Andante e penseroso.

Piano.

The first system of the piano introduction is in 3/4 time, key of B-flat major. It begins with a treble clef and a bass clef. The treble staff contains a melody starting on G4, moving to A4, Bb4, and then a series of chords. The bass staff provides a harmonic accompaniment with chords on the 1st, 3rd, and 5th of each measure. Dynamics include mf and p.

The second system continues the piano introduction. The treble staff features a melodic line with some grace notes and slurs. The bass staff continues with a steady accompaniment. Dynamics include p.

The third system of the piano introduction. The treble staff has a more active melodic line with some triplets. The bass staff continues with chords. Dynamics include mf and ad lib.

Him, and He shall give thee thy heart's de - sires,..... and He shall give thee thy heart's de-sires. Commit thy way un-to Him, and trust in

The first system of music consists of a vocal line on a single staff and a piano accompaniment on two staves. The vocal line begins with a treble clef and a key signature of one sharp (F#). The lyrics are: "give thee thy heart's de-sires. Commit thy way un-to Him, and trust in". The piano accompaniment features a steady eighth-note bass line and a more active treble line with chords and melodic fragments.

Him; commit thy way un-to Him, and trust in Him, and fret not thy-

The second system continues the vocal line and piano accompaniment. The lyrics are: "Him; commit thy way un-to Him, and trust in Him, and fret not thy-". The musical notation remains consistent with the first system, showing the continuation of the vocal melody and the piano accompaniment.

-self..... be-cause of e-vil-do-ers. Oh rest in the Lord, wait pa-tient.ly for

The third system continues the vocal line and piano accompaniment. The lyrics are: "-self..... be-cause of e-vil-do-ers. Oh rest in the Lord, wait pa-tient.ly for". A dynamic marking of p (piano) is placed above the piano accompaniment in the second measure of this system.

Him, wait pa-tient.ly for Him; Oh rest in the Lord, wait patient.ly for

The fourth system concludes the vocal line and piano accompaniment. The lyrics are: "Him, wait pa-tient.ly for Him; Oh rest in the Lord, wait patient.ly for". Dynamic markings include p at the start of the system, pp (pianissimo) in the piano accompaniment of the first measure, and sempre pp (sempre pianissimo) in the piano accompaniment of the second measure.

Aria dell' Opera MITRANE.English words by PAUL ENGLAND.Music by FR. ROSSI.

Andante affettuoso.

Piano.

First system of piano accompaniment. Treble clef, key signature of three sharps (F#, C#, G#), 3/4 time. Starts with a piano (p) dynamic. The bass line consists of chords, and the treble line has a melodic line with some grace notes.

Second system of piano accompaniment. Continues the melodic and harmonic development from the first system.

Third system of piano accompaniment. Includes dynamic markings cresc. and f in the treble staff, and p in the bass staff.

First system of the vocal entry and piano accompaniment. The vocal line begins with the lyrics "Give back the heart you Ah! ren-di-mi quel". The piano accompaniment starts with a piano (p) dynamic and includes a pp section.

Second system of the vocal entry and piano accompaniment. The vocal line continues with the lyrics "stole from me, Give back the love I..... co-re, Ren-di-mi quell'a-". The piano accompaniment continues with chords and a rhythmic pattern.

Allegretto.

Piano.

The piano introduction consists of two systems of music. The first system shows the right and left hands in a 2/4 time signature with a key signature of two flats (B-flat and E-flat). The right hand plays a melody of eighth notes, while the left hand plays a bass line of eighth notes. The second system continues the same rhythmic pattern with some harmonic changes in the right hand.

The vocal entry begins with a single note on a whole rest, followed by the melody for the first line of lyrics. The piano accompaniment continues with the same eighth-note pattern as the introduction.

Now's the time to love, my dar-ling, Now's the time to Voi - ci la sai - son mi-gnon-ne, Voi - ci la sai -

The vocal entry continues with the melody for the second line of lyrics. The piano accompaniment continues with the same eighth-note pattern.

 I toild day and night, but their bread I couldna win;
 Auld Rob maintain'd them baith, and, wi' tears in his e'e,
 Said, "Jenny, for their sakes, will you no' marry me?"
 My heart it said na, for I look'd for Jamie back;
 But the wind it blew high, and the ship it was a wrack;
 The ship it was a wrack! Why didna Jenny dee?
 Oh why do I live to say, O wae's me!

 We took but ae kiss, and we tore ourselves away.
 I wish that I were dead, but I'm no like to dee;
 Oh why do I live to say, O wae's me!
 I gang like a ghaist, and I carena to spin;
 I darena think o' Jamie, for that wad be a sin.
 But I will do my best a gude wife aye to be,
 For auld Robin Gray is a kind man to me.

A Golden Treasury of Song.

PREFACE TO THE FIRST VOLUME.

IT is a common experience that a love of good music has often been created and fostered in families by the practice of two or more singing in unison the works of the great German song-writers: the co-operation of somewhat unskilful performers enabling them to venture into realms from which, as soloists, they would be excluded. Such efforts may be at times trying to the listener, and, from the point of view of artistic performance, are of course worthless, but for the training of taste they are invaluable.

It is partly with the idea of facilitating this kind of training that the present book is offered to the public, although all these songs were of course written for solo voices. No song has been included which is not undoubtedly of the very best, and although no great skill will be found needful for the personal enjoyment of them, there is unlimited scope for work, if an adequate rendering is aimed at.

The Publishers hope that the wide range of this selection will go far to make the book useful to singers dependent upon a chance accompanist: to those who do not wish to take a large amount of music about with them: and to hostesses, often called upon to supply music to guests of various tastes and requirements.

The selection has not been made to include all, even of the greatest names—as the omission of that of Brahms will show—but with a view to its general usefulness for voices of average compass, and especially for unison singing in schools and colleges.

The difficulty of getting good music for unmixed voices is well known to teachers, and it is suggested that the use of this book might do much to train the taste of pupils. To teach a class to sing these songs, as they should and could be sung, would also give admirable opportunities for getting precision, delicacy, and the highest expression of feeling, which unison singing of National Songs (also excellent for training taste) does not give.

The words of many of the songs have been newly translated, and in other ways no pains have been spared to make the book as complete as possible, although the Publishers regret that they are unable, owing to copyrights, to include many songs for which otherwise a place would have been found.

NOTE TO THE SECOND VOLUME.

The welcome given to the first volume of "A Golden Treasury of Song," and its acknowledged excellence as an educational work, have induced the Publishers, in furtherance of the scheme suggested in the Preface to Vol. I., to issue a second collection of famous songs, which, it is hoped, may prove as valuable as the first.

THE THIRD VOLUME contains DUETS and PART SONGS for FEMALE VOICES.

THE FOURTH VOLUME contains PART SONGS for MALE VOICES.
