

David of the White Rock

The Daying Bard to His Harp

Welsh Folk Song

Traditional

Bring me, said Da - vid, the harp I a - dore. I long, ere death calls me, to play it once more.

9

Help me to reach my be - lov'd strings a - gain, On wi - dow and chil - dren, God's bles - sing re - main.

'Bring me my harp', was David's sad sigh,
'I would play one more tune before I die.

Help me, dear wife, put the hands to the strings,
I wish my loved ones the blessing God brings.'

'Last night an angel called with heaven's light,
'David, play, and come through the gates

Farewell, faithful harp, farewell to your strings,
I wish my loved ones the blessing God brings.
